Overview: As one of the world's leading pharmaceutical organisations, this company relocated its Australian office from suburban West Ryde into Barrack Place at 151 Clarence Street in the CBD. They now occupy the top four floors of the new prestigious building, providing an unprecedented opportunity to change its ways of working and plan for the next generation of its contribution to the health of Australians. Siren Design, MPA Projects and Aspen Interiors worked together to provide a workplace solution that would drive strategy and promote an innovative culture for the company. This was achieved by creating a variety of work environments from meeting booths to breakout seating, kitchens, touch down benches and meeting rooms. Aspen successfully manufactured, delivered and installed high end architectural joinery to a constrained eight week time frame.
