Overview: The fitout of 3 floors in Dimension Data's Melbourne offices produced a stunning result. Blending their strong corporate colours with a spacious design, the fitout created a pleasing aesthetic & serviceable work space. Aspen's dividing screen columns created a semi-private screen around the generous breakout area, partitioning the area off without losing contact with the office space around. A striking black ceiling feature above team collaboration tables & the kitchen area was also incorporated to tie the design together
